

Valuable Tips from Sarah Cohen's Marital Experience

I have been happily married to my loving husband, Steve, for over 37 years and we have two grown sons.

When I met my husband we didn't speak the same language; we had a translator for 2 months! The emotion of love is more powerful than words.

Steve and I are both constantly growing and evolving. We have disagreements, and that's fine, because we are individuals with different backgrounds and have our own mind and thoughts. By respecting each other's opinion we learn and enrich our lives. We laugh and grow together.

When my husband lightly touches my hand, I feel like a stream of light flowing throughout my body. If this isn't love, then what is? He and I experience the essential structure for a healthy relationship.

Having practiced for many years the tools for a loving relationship and with my Master (NLP) Neuro-Linguistic Programming, Time Line Therapy and relationship therapeutic consulting background, I easily assist my clients to embrace love, and live in an intimate relationship that makes the world an infinitely better place in which to live, thrive, move and experience our being.
